Kalin McKenna is the Director of Cybersecurity Sales at Microsoft where she leads sales enablement and strategy for the cybersecurity business across the Americas. Prior to joining security sales, Kalin spent nine years leading marketing programs and teams for Windows Phone and Surface Devices and one year leading a digital equity initiative focused on upskilling and reskilling customers, partners and communities.

Kalin spent her early career in campaign politics and public relations serving as the Manager of Conferences and Special Events for Terracom, the Citizen Outreach Director for Grassroots Campaigns, and a co-founder of Mobilize.org.

Kalin earned an MBA from The University of Texas where she was a Forte Fellow and the President of the Graduate Business Council and a Bachelor of Arts degree in History from UC Berkeley. A passionate member of the McCombs Alumni Community, Kalin is thrilled to serve on the Advisory Board as a way of giving back to students and alumni of the McCombs School of Business.
